Step

Made a list of all persons we had harmed, and became willing to make amends to them all.

Tradition

Alcoholics Anonymous should remain forever nonprofessional, but our service centers may employ special workers.

Concept

The trustees are the principal planners and administrators of over-all policy and finance.
They have custodial oversight of the separately incorporated and constantly active services, exercising this through their ability to elect all the directors of these entities.

Principle Eight

Reflection

Who have we harmed? Are we ready to make amends?

MAKING A LIST

Like most of the steps, when I first surrendered and came to A.A, I didn't have a clue about the depth I would have to delve into my past behaviors in order to free myself from all of the guilt and shame that resulted from them. I thought that all I would be talking about was my drinking habits. When faced with the 12 steps I had my own way of being selective about what part of the suggestions I would embrace and which suggestions I would simply dismiss as, ok for you but not necessary for me. I didn't think that my problems were about mental, emotional and spiritual matters. If I could just stop drinking things would be just fine. It didn't take long for me to realize what they were explaining to me about the wreckage of the past and how to relieve myself of the horrible memories that extended all the way back to my adolescent years. I was one of the fortunate ones that lost the obsession to drink from the very first day so that was never a problem for me. I had taken step one, I dismissed steps two and three as being ok for the religious folks but I could do without them. Steps four, five, eight and nine were the ones that I didn't want to face but by the time I was sober for about two years I finally let down my guard and did steps four and five. The relief I got from being fearless and thorough about those two steps gave me the desire and courage to proceed through steps six and seven and those steps will never be finished as they are basically about spiritual growth concerning my thoughts and actions. Then came step eight and the need to identify those people that I had harmed in the past, and I would have to make amends to. Can they be serious? I don't think that a day ever went by during my drinking days that I didn't do something to harm someone. This list would be endless. With that thought in mind, I delayed doing it until I settled down and came up with an understanding that I could start my list and see where it would lead to. I began with the names of those people that I let down the most such as my first wife, my son, my siblings, my mother and my closest friends that were like family to me. Then I spiraled outward to the people I worked with or played with, such as golfing and fishing, etc. Then, as I started to remember all of those drinking buddies, bar tenders and girlfriends through all those years and I had to be realistic about it. To do this, I could spend the rest of my life chasing people down to apologize and that is when I had to step on the breaks. Thinking that I would need to chase down all of those ships in the night, was what held me back from doing it. What I finally did was first to be sure that I no longer did those regrettable deeds of yesterday so that I wasn't being hypocritical about it. Then I handled the ones that were renting room in the front of my brain box, then as I said, I spiraled outward and handled the ones that were closest to me, and as time went on I found the occasion when I would run into an old friend and if I had anything left undone, I would ask him, "Have you ever done something that you really regretted?" His answer is usually, "Hell yes, who hasn't? Then I say. Can we talk? This leveled the playing field. Who can fault a person who, like him, has made mistakes, but then corrected them, made restitution and lives an honest unselfish life? None of us are perfect. Don't be bogged down by over thinking this step, but on the other hand, be prepared to jump at the opportunity when it arises.

Rick R.
